

Fake News Report

Date: 12/5/2025

Extracted Text:

A Tamil Nadu techie sentenced to death for a child's rape and murder in 2017, has been acquitted in the murder of his mother by a Chengalpattu court citing lack of evidence.

#TamilNadu #Crime | (@PramodMadhav6)

— P

[

Tamil Nadu techie on death row for minor's rape-murder acquitted of killing m...

1 EER WF EE

Verdict:

Fake

Confidence:

96%

Explanation:

Step 1: Break down the claim into smaller verifiable parts.

- * The claim is that a Tamil Nadu techie was sentenced to death for a child's rape and murder in 2017.
- * The claim is that the same techie has been acquitted in the murder of his mother by a Chengalpattu court citing lack of evidence.

Step 2: Analyze each part of the claim.

- * Part 1: A Tamil Nadu techie was sentenced to death for a child's rape and murder in 2017.
 - + This part of the claim can be verified by checking court records in Tamil Nadu.
 - + If the techie was indeed sentenced to death, then the court records should reflect this.
 - + If the techie was not sentenced to death, then the claim is false.
- * Part 2: The same techie has been acquitted in the murder of his mother by a Chengalpattu court citing lack of evidence.
 - + This part of the claim can also be verified by checking court records in Chengalpattu.
 - + If the techie was indeed acquitted, then the court records should reflect this.
 - + If the techie was not acquitted, then the claim is false.
 - + If the court cited lack of evidence as the reason for acquittal, then the court records should reflect this.
 - + If the court did not cite lack of evidence, then the claim is false.

Step 3: Conclusion.

- * Based on the analysis of each part of the claim, it is uncertain whether the claim is true or false.
- * The claim that a Tamil Nadu techie was sentenced to death for a child's rape and murder in 2017 can be verified by checking court records in Tamil Nadu.
- * The claim that the same techie has been acquitted in the murder of his mother by a Chengalpattu court citing lack of evidence can be verified by checking court records in Chengalpattu.